Meet Mr. Pokeylope

From New York City, to Texas and Rhode Island, my paws have been all over, but being with my human is my favorite place of all.

WHERE IT ALL BEGAN

I was born on July 31, 2017 in New York City, New York. After a few weeks, a tall human with curly brown fur on his head took me home with him.

I am a Morkie, that is half Yorkie, half Maltese. When I was a baby, I was smaller than the size of my humans foot, and my fur was much more brown. As I've grown up I turned more white, except for a small patch on my rump.

NYC TO RI

Being a dog in New York City is a lot of fun. I have a big apartment that I share with my human, and two others. I get to sleep on a big bed, and I get to go to the dog park as often as I want. Walking through the streets is always interesting because there are so many things to smell.

I don't always live in New York. My human is something called and actor and sometimes he has to go to a place called job. When he goes there, he leaves for a long time and I travel to see my grandpa.

To get there I have to go in a train. I hate traveling and get very nervous, so I drool a lot. When I met my grandpa for the first time, I was extra nervous and I drooled so much that I was completely wet when I got to his house. My human had to give me a bath before I could explore the house.

FUN & GAMES

One of my favorite games is to play keep away. All the humans like to put these things on their feet called socks, and if I steal them before they put them on, then they'll play a great game with me.

I love to run. When I am with grandpa, he likes to take me to the dog park to play with other dogs. There is plenty of space for me to run around and meet new friends. My favorite place to visit with grandpa is the beach. He likes to take me to walk on the strange, squishy ground. I am not a fan of the water, especially when it is moving towards me, but sometimes I will dip my paws in to see what it's all about.

FAMILY

This month my human is at job, so I am spending the cold weather with my grandpa. Every year when it gets cold out, my cousins come to my grandpa's house to play too.

I have one cousin who is a dog like me, but she has black fur. My other cousin is a cat who doesn't like to play with me very much, but his human does. I like when my cousins come to visit because there are so many more people to play with.

LOOKING FORWARD

I love spending time with my grandpa. I always know when he is making a sandwich, and if I stand with one of my paws on his leg, I almost always get a slice of cheese or ham.

We also like to watch movies together at night. He will sit on the couch and I get to sit next to him and rest my head in his lap.

While having a good time in Rhode Island, I am excited for my human to come back from job soon so he can play rope with me.

Ruff-Views

Chewy sent me some special treats that are featured on their website this month.

CHIPS SNACK

I always get jealous when my human has these snacks, and now I have my own! It's soft, but also has a crunchy feeling like the one my human has, and it even has a squeaker.

BOTTLE OF MERLOT

I love chewing plastic bottles but my human always takes them away because I am not supposed to swallow them. This has a plastic bottle inside! Now I get to chew as long as I want, and he can put a new one in once I'm done.

LLAMA SWEATER

I am not usually a big fan of sweaters. My human likes to put jackets on me when it's cold in New York. I like this sweater because my human says I look cute in it! But, it seems a little tight. If you get yourself this you might want to get one size bigger.

Mr. P's Picks

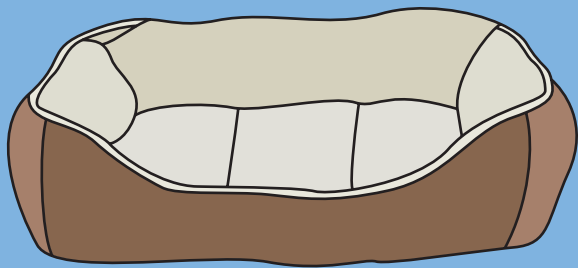

Three things I can't live without? That's a tough one.

My rope toy is an obvious first pick. Whenever my person gets in from his time outside, my rope is the first thing I grab. I think his favorite game is when we pull it away from each other until someone can't hold it anymore. My strategy is to grab it right where his paw is, so he loses his grip.

I have to choose a cozy bed as my second pick. I need a place to rest after a long trip to the dark park. I usually only use it for naps because my human has a comfy bed too. But, he is very tall and sometimes he doesn't leave enough room for my liking. I may be small but I require a lot of sleeping room and sometimes I need my own bed at night.

Pick number three goes to a ball. I have a small mouth, so my human gets small green balls that I can grab. I love how bouncy they are, if I can get my human to throw it for me, I get a good chase before I have to bring it back.

My human says my favorites came from Chewy.com, so I am hoping he will get more stuff from there soon. I can never have too many ropes.

Tips & Tricks

I got letters from friends all over the country asking me what my favorite treats are and what's the best way to earn them. I'm answering some of your burning questions.

I've always been an only child, but my human seems to be saying something about getting me a "brother." I think that means another cat! Should I be worried?

Popeye, Hartford CT

I am not too sure what a "brother" would be, but I have something called a "cousin." My cousin is another four legged friend who comes to visit while I am in Rhode Island. He doesn't like to play too often, but I like the company sometimes.

I am a water snail and I have always wondered what it's like out of the water. What's your favorite part of land, and do you like the water?

Dolores, Boston MA

I am not a big fan of water. My human likes to go into a box that pours water on him every-day, and I get worried he'll get hurt. I often wait right outside to make sure he is ok. My favorite part of land is the dog park. I get to run very fast and play with other friends there.

My human used to be around all the time, but now she is away a lot.

My older human tells me she is at college. I don't know where college is but I hope she comes back soon. What do you do when your human is away?

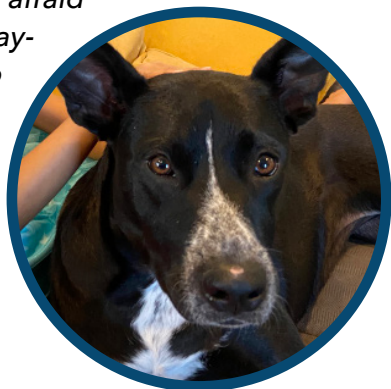

Snowball, Chicago IL

My human is away a lot at someplace called job. When he is gone for a long time I get to go to my grandpa's house. I try to keep busy and play with him as much as I can until my human comes back.

I recently got adopted into a family with a very small human. At first, I was afraid of her, but I am starting to like playing with her and sleeping next to her on the couch. Do you have any small humans in your life?

Pippa, Austin TX

Once when my human was away at job, I stayed with his family that had a small human. I liked running around with her very much (she also had the best toys to chew all around the house).
